Argentina Says Coup Is Quelled

Acting President Says Zuloaga Not Taken From Command of Air Force

Munitions Lost

34 Cases of Ammunition Are Sought; Gave Clue to Conspiracy

Buenos Aires, Sept. 25 (AP) — The government declared today all danger past from a movement described officially as a coup d'état conspiracy, but rumors continued to fly thick and fast as the public sought explanations of the mysterious plot.

Acting President Ramon Castillo said absolute tranquility prevailed following the government occupation of military airports, arrest of some 20 aviation officers, and immobilization of the nation's 200 first-line warplanes.

He denied that General Angel M. Zuloaga had been relieved of command of the U.S.-trained air force, although the possibility that the 56-year-old officer has resigned was not excluded.

The Andi news agency said it was informed by a high military source that Zuloaga was out as a result of the abortive plot among air corps officers.

Andi quoted its informant as saying Zuloaga himself asked to be relieved of command, not admitting complicity in any plot but being offended by the army's attitude. Zuloaga himself was not to be found.

Current rumors ranged from one that the incident was an incipient totalitarian-inspired putsch to another that the government itself planned the affair to arouse popular feeling in its favor. Identities and political leanings of the arrested officers were not disclosed, however.

Ammunition Is Sought

Authorities still apparently have not found 34 cases of ammunition, disappearance of which gave the clue to the conspiracy and led to swift government intervention.

Acting President Castillo charged that radical party members, nationalists and others were involved. At the same time, he said the plotting had little importance.

Troop detachments as large as battalions, which total 900 men in the Argentine army, patrolled the air fields, military planes were ordered grounded until Saturday and aerial bombs and ammunition were under guard.

The charge of Castillo, member of the conservative national Democratic party, that radicals, nationalists and others had plotted against the government drew a concrete protest from the House of Deputies, where the radical party is dominant.

The angered radicals, actually followers of a liberal middle-of-the-road policy, blocked House approval of a proposed $110,000,000 loan from the United States for execution of Castillo's economic rehabilitation program.

Party spokesmen said the chamber would not vote any administration proposal until the political atmosphere had cleared.

They declared the government sought to control December elections in the Buenos Aires province, where Argentina's largest provincial electorate will cast the vote which observers declared would lay the groundwork for the presidential election of 1943.

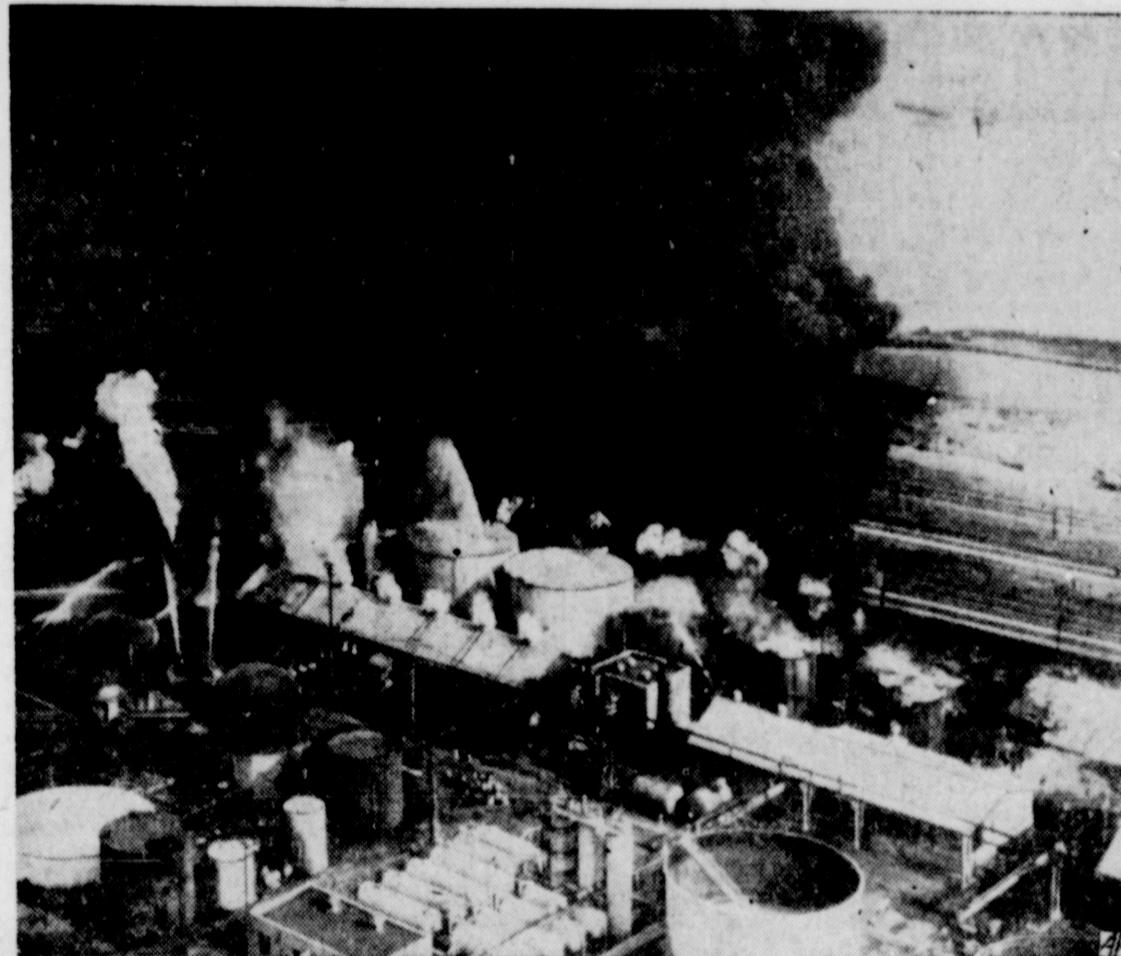

Castillo has been acting chief executive since President Roberto Ortiz became ill in July, 1940.

Stark Gives Testimony

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP) — A House appropriations sub-committee got a glimpse of the battle of the Atlantic, it was learned today, in the testimony of Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, on the new $5,985,000,000 lease-lend appropriation bill. Stark appeared before the committee in executive session to testify on naval phases of the measure and some committee members, who declined to be quoted by name, said he gave a rather gloomy picture of shipping losses.

Schools Are Closed

Camden, N. J., Sept. 25 (AP) — Discovery of a fourth case of infantile paralysis in the city within 24 hours led to closing of all public and parochial schools today but School Physician Dr. I. Edward Orna declared "there appears to be no danger of an epidemic."

Fire Rages in Oil Plant After Blast

Flames rage through part of the plant of the Standard Oil Company at Whiting, Ind., following an explosion, while fire fighters pour a chemical foam compound and live steam into the burning area. One man was known to have lost his life and several others were injured. In the background are main line tracks of the New York Central railroad.

City Faces Reduced Water Use Unless Rains Raise Lakes

Cooper's Lake Supply Is Almost Seven Feet Below Normal Line; Auxiliary Low

With a rainfall so far this month of only .52 inches, or a trifle over half an inch, an unprecedented late summer and early fall drought has lowered the level in Cooper's Lake, from which the city of Kingston draws its daily supplies, to almost seven feet below normal water line.

Unless rains fall soon the city will soon have to start conserving its water supply, it was said at the water department today.

The auxiliary reservoir at Zena, which is used only when there is a break in the water line leading from Cooper's Lake, is about two feet below normal water mark.

The record of rainfall as kept in the city engineer's office at the city hall shows that so far this month there has been but little rain falling in Kingston.

The records show that on the 4th there was a precipitation of .08 of an inch, on the 9th there was a fall of .09 of an inch, and on the 10th there was a fall of .35 of an inch, total precipitation so far this month of slightly over

Morgenthau Warns of More Cuts On Bank Credits to Avert Inflation

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that treasury experts had begun drafting a proposed bill to limit corporation profits to six per cent.

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP) — Secretary Morgenthau coupled an unexpected recommendation to Congress yesterday for a drastic six per cent limitation on all corporation profits during the emergency with a warning that further restrictions on bank credits may be necessary if inflation is to be averted.

The treasury head, urging the House Banking Committee to speed the price-control bill as an essential step toward preventing inflation, expressed belief that corporations should be satisfied if they could earn six per cent on their invested capital during the emergency.

He asserted that all earnings in excess of that figure should go to the government to help pay for

His Wife, 22, Dies Last Night of Wounds; Church Gives Out Warrant Today

Death Is Result of Long Illness; Was Engineer, Transportation Boss and Auxiliary

Edward Hicks, 24, formerly of Cedar street, this city, still in serious condition from a gun wound in his chest, learned today officially at Kingston Hospital that recovery for him will mean facing a first degree murder charge.

Last night Hicks' 22-year-old estranged wife, Mrs. Margery LeBlanc Hicks, died at the same hospital at 8:23 o'clock from gun wounds, which the officials charge, were inflicted upon her when his efforts at a reconciliation were without effect.

The tragedy, as the police reconstruct it from all available information to date, came because of the refusal of Mrs. Hicks to rejoin her husband and it reached a lonely farm road near Lomontville where Hicks had driven with his young wife and four-month-old child.

Hicks, the police charge, shot his wife several times and then turned the gun upon himself.

Warrant Is Issued

This afternoon a warrant charging Hicks with first degree murder, issued by Peace Justice Oscar Church of High Falls, was served upon young Hicks at the hospital by State Troopers Arthur Reilly and Michael Judge and Sheriff Abram Molyneaux. After the warrant was served Hicks was turned over to the custody of Sheriff Molyneaux, who has had guards stationed at his bedside.

A brief telephoned announcement from the White House said: "Mr. Hall Roosevelt passed away at 8:23 a. m. (EST) at Walter Reed Army Hospital with his only sister, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, at his bedside.

Hall had been ill many months, first in a hospital at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and subsequently was given army hospitalization by virtue of his World War aviation service.

The relationship between big, bluff Gracie Hall Roosevelt and his only sister, the first lady, was extremely close. Orphaned as children, they were tied by a strong and never-waning bond.

Although Mrs. Roosevelt was less than seven years old when Hall was born in Neuilly, France, June 28, 1891, she wrote in her autobiography, "this is my story," that "my brother" was more like my child to me."

Hall lived with the Franklin Roosevelt's when they were a young married couple, occupying a small New York apartment, and down through the years he was often with them in their various homes and on sailing, hunting and fishing expeditions.

The brother-in-law of one President, Hall was the nephew of another, President Theodore Roosevelt.

The White House thus was familiar to him as to any other man who was not President. But he achieved only slight, local prominence himself.

Was Electrical Engineer

An electrical engineer, transportation executive and banker, he was chosen in 1930 by a group of Michigan Democrats to make the primary race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but declined. His only public offices were Detroit City Controller and service on mayor, now Supreme Court Justice, Frank Murphy's Detroit unemployment committee.

In the meantime, Philip Murray, CIO president, came out against proposals to freeze wages as well as prices. In a letter to Steagall requesting permission for a CIO spokesman to testify, Murray said it would be "unwise in terms of sound economics and of proper public policy to attempt to freeze wages in connection with price control."

He asserted that all earnings in excess of that figure should go to the government to help pay for

G. Hall Roosevelt Dies; Brother of President's Wife

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP) — G. Hall Roosevelt, 50, engineer, banker and transport executive, died early today at the Walter Reed Army Hospital with his only sister, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, at his bedside.

Tinder Dry Woods Present Growing Area Fire Hazard

Three Fires in Catskills Are Not in or Near Limits of Ulster, Warden Reports

Tinder dry forest throughout the Catskills present an extremely dangerous fire hazard but there have been no serious fires in this area, it was learned today. Forest observers are keeping a constant watch for the start of any small blaze and hoping for rain which will relieve the danger.

Of 12 forest fires reported in the state Tuesday, three were in the Catskills but not in the local area. Fire Observer Edson at the Gallus Hill fire tower today said there had been no fires in the lower Catskills and from his station he had been unable to see the fires reported to the Conservation Department Tuesday.

The extremely warm weather during the day with cool nights have created a hazy condition during the morning hours of the day and make it impossible to see any great distance. This morning visibility was limited to about two miles but Mr. Edson said later in the day visibility probably would increase.

Dry weather has caused foliage to dry up on the trees and bushes, creating an extremely dangerous condition should a fire start.

Streams Are Low

Ponds and streams are low and should a forest fire start difficulty would be encountered in extinguishing it because of the dry condition of all vegetation. All persons who enter the woods or who pass along wooded stretches are cautioned to use the utmost care to prevent fires.

Foressts were closed last spring for four weeks because of the fire hazard and unless the condition is relieved there may have to be hunting regulations imposed this fall.

State forest fire fighters battled three bad blazes in Clinton county today as the State Conservation Department reported falling leaves aggravating an already serious threat from dry woods, the Forest Press says.

Forest Fire Control Superintendent Kinne F. Williams said the fires, in the town of Clinton and Ellenville, were out of control, with the largest consuming an area five miles long and of undetermined width.

Urging extreme caution by all persons using the forests, the department said the fire hazard was "rapidly approaching" that which brought a statewide closing of woodlands last spring.

Continuing lack of drenching rain, Williams added, means a possibility of a renewed closing.

Watervliet Coroner Withholds Decision

Watervliet, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP) — Coroner J. Gregory Nealon withheld decision today in the deaths of three Buffalo workmen in a dynamite explosion on a Hudson river dredging barge, pending further inquiry.

State police last night recovered the mutilated bodies of Robert Gallagher, 25, and Frank Wright, 40, from the water. The body of Edward Zee, 45, was found on the deck of the craft.

Russell Van Alstyne, Troy, hospitalized with severe cuts, was reported in "fair" condition.

Joining Nealon in the investigation were the state police, its B. C. I. and an F. B. I. agent.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP) — The position of the Treasury September 23: Receipts $21,048,473.82; expenditures $43,181,558.29; net balance $2,342,148.46. 02; working balance included $1,587,858,247.42; customs receipts for month $28,028,162.62; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $1,857,974,882.50; expenditures $4,615,322,024.01; excess of expenditures $2,757,347,141.51; gross debt $51,099,778,134.07; increase over previous day $11,742,955.09; gold assets $22,748,935,539.78.

That right. That always seemed to be morally wrong."

Another legislator heard in the discussion was Senator Schwartz (D-Wyo.), who is regarded by colleagues as a middle-of-the-roader on foreign affairs. He announced he was "very much in favor of arming our merchant ships"—something which the neutrality act now specifically forbids.

Both administration and opposition polls have indicated that President Roosevelt could obtain the Senate's consent to modification of the act on this and other points. House leaders also forecast approval there. Mr. Roosevelt indicated Tuesday that he intended to ask Congress next week to repeal the ban on arming ships, but informed sources now believe that his message may go much further than that.

That a final decision had been reached appeared doubtful, however, for it was learned that the state department is now engaged in a comprehensive study of the act.

"In all our history," he told newsmen, "we fought for the right to sail the seven seas at will. In the neutrality act we surrendered

Russians Declare German Losses At City Enormous

Timoshenko's Armies Driving Strong Counter-Offensive in Gomel Sector; Germans Evade Prediction on Leningrad's Fall

(By The Associated Press)

German military dispatches reported violent hand-to-hand fighting, raging in the streets of Leningrad's suburbs today, while the Russians declared that cavalry charges and thrusts by cannon-blazing Soviet tanks had hurled the Nazis back six miles and recaptured two villages on the city's outskirts.

German losses were described by the Russians as enormous in the bloody see-saw battle for the old Czarist capital.

On the central front, a Soviet bulletin reported that Marshal Simeon Timoshenko's Red armies were pushing a counter-offensive in the Gomel sector, midway between Smolensk and Kiev, in a drive to lift the pressure on Russian troops in the Ukraine.

Nazi military quarters, dodging any prediction as to when Leningrad would fall, declared nevertheless that the position of Red army defenders was becoming "more and more hopeless."

The Russians, however, countered with the assertion that the fierce battle was beginning to turn in favor of Marshal Klement Voroshilov's defense forces.

Soviet counter-attacks in greater number and strength were reported to be stemming the Nazi onslaught, despite the arrival of a steady stream of German reinforcements.

Conspired to Fix Prices,
Restrain Trade

New York, Sept. 25 (P)—Indictments charging a conspiracy to fix and maintain prices of cheese manufactured in New York state were returned today by a federal grand jury.

Defendants named in the two indictments were the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Kraft Cheese Company, Miller-Richardson Company, Inc., the Cuba, N. Y., Cheese Board, and the Gouverneur, N. Y., Cheese Board, as well as numerous officials of those organizations.

In addition to the price-fixing count, the indictments charged conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The charges involve the annual production of 25,000,000 pounds of cheese by 150 factories located in the western and northern sections of New York state.

Gerald Tiffany Kills
Self, Bennett Says

New York, Sept. 25 (P)—Gerald Tiffany, 40, paroled federal convict facing completion of a 10-year and 10-day term in Atlanta, today was found dead by gas, a suicide according to Attorney General John J. Bennett, whose securities division had ordered him brought in for questioning.

Tiffany, who left a note saying he would be taken anyway, asked forgiveness for the step he was taking. The note was addressed to a woman unidentified by police.

Sentenced to consecutive terms of one year and one day on 10 counts in 1936 and fined $10,000 for mail fraud, Tiffany was on parole but had been ordered in for parole violation in an oil royalties scheme in Pawling, N. Y.

Hicks Is Told Of Murder Charge

til his condition improves, District Attorney Haver said.

Deputy Sheriffs Wesley O'Brien and Ray Sahloff, former Kingston policeman, have been assigned by Sheriff Molyneaux to stand guard at the bedside of Hicks, General Electric employee, who it is charged became involved in a difference with his wife when she refused to return to him and make her home with him. Hicks, 24 years old, came to Kingston early this week to visit his mother on Cedar street and on Tuesday, Mrs. Hicks came to Kingston at the request of members of the family made apparently in an effort to effect a reconciliation.

The shooting took place in the lonely cornfield after Mrs. Hicks, accompanied by their four-months old child had consented to go for a ride with the husband.

Mrs. Hicks, critically wounded, told officers Wednesday that she started out on the tragic ride when her husband told her that "we are going for a ride, you and I and the baby, because this will probably be the last time we will be together."

The shooting took place by the family car in the field. Mrs. Hicks was shot apparently seven times with a .22 calibre rifle and Hicks has a single wound in the chest above the heart. The bullet apparently just grazed the left lung.

The body of Mrs. Hicks will be shipped to Schenectady for funeral services and burial.

A million private automobiles are still operating in Britain.

JUVENILE PERILS AHEAD

A juvenile court judge warns that extra care will be necessary to prevent an increase in youthful misdeeds along with the industrial upswing. Contrary to the common belief that better times afford fewer causes of crime, they actually develop more disturbing factors.

The boom years between 1927 and 1930 produced a boom in crime. The depression brought a drop. The judge explains some of the reasons for such trends.

There is inevitable competition between poor youngsters and their playmates whose parents prosper in an industrial recovery. There is a tendency on the part of public assistance agencies to relax their supervision of children, especially in families that go off relief when the breadwinner gets a job. There also seems to be less parental supervision of children, particularly if both parents work and the young people are "on their own" in the after-school hours.

Not all the trouble is with the poor children. In a lively industrial period, children who have more than is good for them are also in danger of being misled into petty or more serious crimes for the sake of adventure. The warning has been sounded, however, and it should be possible to handle such problems more wisely now than it was in the past because so much more is known about them.

REAL DEBATE

An old-fashioned debate, instead of the currently popular forum discussion, is on the program for the annual homecoming celebration in an Illinois town. A state senator and an editorial writer are the debaters. Their subject will be "Is This Our War?" Each will have 45 minutes to present his argument, with 10 minutes for rebuttal for the first speaker and two for the second.

The debate plans grew from an argument between the two men at a Labor Day picnic. Public interest in it indicates that the average homecoming crowd of 1,000 may jump to 5,000, and the committee in charge is in a state of proud but anxious anticipation.

The referee promises to keep the two within the time limits but says the decision as to victory will be up to the crowd.

This will be a notable event if it is truly a debate, sticking to the point, presenting logical arguments. Too much so-called debate in recent years has been little more than angry presentation of different viewpoints, with no meeting of minds, no proof or disproof of statements and no decision at the end. The nation needs more talk that really gets somewhere.

FROM FLIVVERS TO GUNS

"Give us the tools," said Winston Churchill, appealing for war materials, "and we will finish the job."

"Give us the blueprints," American industry is quoted as saying, "and time to make the needed machines, and we will turn out what you need for national defense so fast that it will make your head swim."

This was the attitude of American manufacturers undertaking to produce complex mechanisms they had never tackled before. At first, remarks a business writer, the automobile men, talking in this confident way, were laughed at as boastful and over-optimistic. What did they know about guns?

They lacked the skills and techniques built up by long experience in arsenals. But they succeeded frequently in convincing the ordnance experts that they were right and could do the job. They demonstrated, as a business writer observes, that "the precision machinery and engineering short-cuts which made the automobile inexpensive could be applied to production of cannon, with an effect that makes arsenals operation seem to belong to the era of the blunderbuss."

The engineering and technical skill were not really different. "To the engineers, the master-mechanics, the machine operators and the men on the assembly lines, the sample guns brought in by the ordnance men were just so many machines." They began making interchangeable parts by procedures they were used to, starting with lighter forg-ings so as to use less material and labor in cutting them down to requirements, and so on. They used steel stampings instead of die castings. And soon the finished guns were pouring out on the assembly lines like so many flivvers.

That eastern gasoline problem is like the weather—everybody talks about it but nobody does anything.

The best way to prevent inflation is to save money. That way you have it, and also it's worth more.

Those Jap militarists seem doomed to remain at peace, and gosh, how they dread it!

The lack of great poetry today doesn't come from the lack of material, which is greater than ever—it's the lack of poets.

ARTHROSIS

When a physician in general practice has found that the removal of infected teeth or tonsils clears up rheumatic pains and stiffness in joints and muscles and continues to find this happen, year in and year out, he is quite satisfied that he has found the cause of the trouble. He is not likely to pay much attention, therefore, to other physicians who report that the removal of teeth and tonsils has not caused the pain and stiffness to disappear in their experience.

It is true that the removal of infected teeth and tonsils has not caused rheumatic symptoms to disappear in many cases. In fact, some physicians have been reporting the past few years that infected teeth and tonsils are not the commonest cause of rheumatism and that diet, injury, poor posture, and mechanical body defects are more often the cause.

Like other physicians, I have seen a great many cases of rheumatism and arthritis flare up and become worse shortly after infected teeth and tonsils were removed, with a disappearance of all the symptoms in a few weeks or months. The very fact that the symptoms became worse after removal of infected teeth and tonsils is good evidence that the operation of removal stir up the poisons in the vicinity of the infection and these poisons, getting into the blood, cause the increase in symptoms.

Why does the removal of infected teeth and tonsils clear up some cases and fail in others?

In many cases, failure is due to the fact that the infection has been present for such a long time that it has established itself in other parts of the body—joints, large intestine, and elsewhere—and so the removal of the infected teeth and tonsils fails to remove "all" the infection in the body. Thus Dr. M. Shuster, New York, in Oral Surgery, reports that of 468 patients with arthritis for less than six months, the teeth of 366 were removed and 150 of these were improved; the tonsils of 78 were removed and 39 were improved. Of the remaining patients with arthritis for more than two years, 43 of the 215 were improved following removal of teeth, and 21 of 84 after removal of tonsils.

Thus the removal of infected teeth or tonsils in early cases was about twice as effective as in the late stages of the disease.

Sees End of Profit System If There Is To Be Ceiling Over Prices and No Ceiling Over Costs

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Sept. 25.—If there is to be a ceiling over prices and no ceiling over costs, the public may as well anticipate the beginning of the end of the profit system in America.

Not only is the administration planning a political approach to the problem of prices but there seems no way now to stop inflation because the government already is temporizing with the issue.

Also, the argument is being insidiously introduced that labor is not a commodity and that hence its price cannot be controlled. But if labor costs are eliminated from consideration and allowed to soar, the producer or distributor will simply have to go out of business unless he can make a profit, and with a ceiling on prices there can hardly be any doubt where many business enterprises will land—they will find themselves bankrupt. The wages of the investors and managers are not commodities either and to regulate these and not the wages of workers is palpable discrimination and unfairness.

Coincidentally there is talk of limiting all profits to six per cent on invested capital and putting a tax of 100 per cent on all profit above that figure. But that is exactly what the big corporations could handle and what the little ones would collapse under. For a six per cent return on big capitalization is what the large companies might consider a fair return. Few have ever averaged six per cent. Small enterprise which in the last decade since the 1929 depression has financed itself on borrowed money couldn't possibly pay off debt with a six per cent return on its small amount of equity capital. As for new businesses, investors would not lend money to companies that cannot retire debt in a reasonable length of time.

The excess profits tax is hard enough on the small enterprise but the limitation of six per cent on capital would be the death knell. Take a company which has spent seven or eight years climbing the hill. It has borrowed annually, to meet deficits and finally in 1941 gets to the break-even stage after having accumulated a debt of $500,000. Its equity capital is negligible due to the fact that people who invest money usually want a mortgage or first lien on the assets or they will not

"BIG FAMILY," by Bellamy Partidge

"BIG FAMILY" is as delightful an excursion into autobiography as the fall is likely to bring. Bellamy Partridge has made himself and the Partridge family as amusing as he made his father in "Country Lawyer," which is admittedly quite a feat.

For those who may not have read "Country Lawyer," be it said that the Partridges are the clan that flourished in Phelps, N. Y., through half a century or more. When the father arrived as a young lawyer in Phelps there was only one house vacant that would be respectable enough, and it was several sizes too large. But the owner insisted that it would not be too large for long, and he was right. Spaced according to biological rule, eight children arrived. There were also an assortment of relatives almost always on hand, and after an interval, there were crowds of school and college friends. Fifteen or twenty sat down for dinner much of the time, and the expense thereof almost careened the practice of Father Partridge occasionally.

What startles the reader of "Big Family" (or at least what startled me) was the extraordinary similarity between the memorabilia of the Partridges and that of any other family in reasonably similar circumstances. The Partridges had some customs not generally current—one was the morning inspection line which all the children had to pass even when they were married, and home for reunions. Still every family of the period when bathtubs had not yet made cleanliness as easy as dirtiness had something of the sort.

"Big Family" is full of such things as Grandmother's campaign against cards, Louise's mortification when a maid showed up in a new outfit, predictably like Louise's new outfit little Bellamy's failure to snatch the girders of a bridge when riding an ice cake downstream, the extraordinary effect of a revival meeting on one Miss Bruce, the time Bellamy and his brother hid their shoes and stockings in a culvert, and the storm washed them away. Mr. Partridge even retells the one about a certain article of night furniture which caught on his head and had to be broken to release him.

The reason for the increased activity here is the tanker shortage, which has resulted in smaller shipments of western crude and refined products and as a consequent comparative scarcity of petroleum products on the eastern seaboard.

Old wells, small producers that formerly were unprofitable to operate under the low prices prevailing previously, are being put back in use with the prospect of better financial returns and the need for their products in the East.

Many of the pumbers who are cleaning and working the renovated wells are old-timers who are returning to the drilling because of the shortage of younger men.

The fields in this district are considered the oldest in the world but virtually were abandoned due to competition from more productive drilling in other parts of the country.

Woman Skipper Keeps Up Family's Sailor Record

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Capt. Daisy M. Godfrey is the only woman in this part of the country licensed to captain any steamship under the 600-ton limit but she would not trade occupations for all the housewife jobs this side of the Equator.

"With a family tree that is sailory enough to be a marine plant, it was natural enough for me to go on the lakes," Mrs. Godfrey explained. "My father, my husband and my son have all spent their lives aboard ship and there was no reason for me to be an exception."

"I took my first tug ride at the age of four months without getting seasick and after that my future was never in doubt."

Mrs. Godfrey passed her master's examinations in 1933. Before that time she worked in minor positions on various tugs in the Great Lakes but, she admitted, she has never taken time to learn to swim.

London Considers Rebuilding Plans

New City With Wide Streets Is Aim of Leaders.

LONDON.—The City of London, reputed in legend to be paved with gold, may pass into public ownership.

That old legend sometimes has been proved true. Land-grabbers, speculators, adventurers of all kinds in the city's history have profited by the turnover of land sites.

Because of the speculation in valuable sites, Sir Christopher Wren's great plan to remodel the city of London after it had been destroyed in the great fire in 1666, was wasted.

Land owners claimed the right to build again on the plots they occupied. Speculators sold land at fabulous prices, and the new owners insisted on building there, regardless of Wren's plans.

Now, the City of London has another chance. German bombs have destroyed so much that large-scale rebuilding will be necessary after the war.

And the city corporation is determined that the interests of landowners shall not interfere this time. They are planning a new London, with broad thoroughfares.

They will be lined with trees. Great new buildings will rise on either side of them. The new city is considering a plan to buy all the land on which the city stands—673 acres of it.

First great reconstruction scheme after the war will be near St. Paul's around Newgate street and Cheap-side.

But all the work will be carried out according to a single comprehensive plan which will rid the city of its dingy alleys and twisting lanes and make it instead a modern world capital.

The Royal Institution of British Architects urges that a London planning board should be set up to consider rebuilding plans for the entire metropolitan area.

Oldest Wells Again to Yield Oil for Defense

BRADFORD, PA.—The world's oldest oil field is booming again because of the national defense emergency.

The Pennsylvania sands field in the northwestern part of the state has come back to life. Rigs once more are lined up along the highways and hundreds of old wells are being cleaned for emergency duty.

The reason for the increased activity here is the tanker shortage, which has resulted in smaller shipments of western crude and refined products and as a consequent comparative scarcity of petroleum products on the eastern seaboard.

Old wells, small producers that formerly were unprofitable to operate under the low prices prevailing previously, are being put back in use with the prospect of better financial returns and the need for their products in the East.

Tannersville Man Dies While Unloading Lumber

Fred J. Penrose, 54, of Tannersville, was stricken while helping a friend unload some lumber from a freight car in the West Shore freight yards at Saugerties about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Hugh Chidester, who was called, found the man dead upon his arrival and pronounced death due to coronary thrombosis.

Coroner Henry A. Lamoureaux gave a verdict of death from natural causes and took the body to the Lamoureaux mortuary, later turning it over to Undertaker George E. Ouderkirk of Grand Gorge.

Penrose had come down from Tannersville Wednesday with his friend, Ernest Cole and was assisting him, handing out lumber from the freight car, but almost at once complained of the heat and collapsed. A native of Brooklyn, Mr. Penrose had for some years made his home in Tannersville.

The number of candy, nut and confectionery stores has declined steadily in the last decade, Census Bureau figures show, from 63,265 in 1929, to 55,197 in 1935, to 48,034 in 1939; and sales fell off from $571,549,000 in 1929 to $314,487,000 in 1935, and $295,300,000 in 1939.

These Women!

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

Picture a pair of intelligent eyes that glow like brown lamps. Silver-shot hair swept back from a face that is seamed a little and mellowed lot by passing years. Square tipped hands that move with gestures quick and clipped.

There you have a vignette of Virginia Gildersleeve, Dean of Barnard College, Columbia. A woman who went to college to please her mother and remained to head one of America's leading women's colleges for more than 30 years. A woman who has blended her life work of educating girls with efforts to weld university women into an international force that might help to prevent war.

Immediately after the World War Dean Gildersleeve and a small group of European women educators founded the Internaenough. We lost. But we haven't given up."

As we sat in Dean Gildersleeve's office, furnished with green and rust chairs and drapes, I asked her what she thought women's part in the prevention of war should be.

"Women have the same responsibility as men for making the world a better place," she said, her brown eyes glowing. "Women make fools of themselves saying it's women's part to make peace. It isn't. Women must do it along with men. I think of women as chemists, teachers, doctors and citizens—and a thousand other kinds of useful workers. It is in those roles that I believe they can do their part. A very important thing is to educate children to realize that they never have security and well being permanently in this country unless they take some responsibility for making a better world."

And then the dean launched on a subject dear to her heart.

"I don't find much difference between men and women," she said. "The few differences I have noted are these: Men are more sentimental than women. Women are more conscientious than men, more likely to burden themselves with extra jobs. Most women seem to lack a creative drive that a larger proportion of men have. On the whole, women are more interested in conserving life. They are less combative than men, who are more ready to fight and spend life if necessary. A friend of mine at a co-ed college says that in any one class women students average higher than men students, but that there are nearly always one or two men better than any of the women."

After Dean Gildersleeve, who was born in New York, received her B. A. and M. A. degrees from Columbia, she taught English at Barnard, interrupted by time out for a Ph. D. degree. In 1911, when she was 33, she became dean. She has a clean-cut conception of her job, which deals a lot with people, budgets and finances. She says she has no illusions about teaching the professors how to teach.

Before the war she spent her summers in England and on the continent, where she gave a lot of thought to the international phase of her work. She is a member of the National Committee of the United States of America on International Intellectual Cooperation and a trustee of the Institute of International Education.

Don't think of the dean as an earnest soul who sits around alone with books. She is earnest, but she goes places. Meets people, makes speeches. She works at her job day and night—even lives on the campus in a two-story maisonette built into the end of one building.

For fun, she gets a lot out of dogs, music and reading. Loves books on archeology and polar exploration—and detective tales.

Hot Water Way
Best for Dishes

Sanitary Inspector Gives Views on Old Issue

The best method of ridding dishes of bacteria is not to dry them with a dish towel after washing, but to rinse them in hot water and then allow them to set and dry, it was brought out Tuesday evening at the Board of Health meeting in discussing the report of Sanitary Inspector Charles W. Shultz on the results of his inspections of local restaurants.

One of the members of the health board said that it was a scientific fact that the best way to wash dishes was to do so in hot soapy water, and then rinse them off with boiling hot water and allow them to stand.

Sanitary Inspector Shultz cited the fact that one of the eating places in the city had installed a dish washing machine which washed the dishes in hot soapy water, and then rinsed them in boiling water. The dishes were allowed to stand, drain off and dry.

It was found, said Mr. Shultz, that by this method of washing dishes the bacterian count was greatly decreased, and the dishes were much cleaner and more sanitary. He said that the place that had installed the machine for washing dishes had cut the towel expense in half, and now towels were only used to wipe and dry the silverware, and for use on the tables and counters in the restaurant.

"In fact," said Mr. Shultz, "this restaurant man in a few years will save enough on the purchase of towels to almost pay for the washing machine."

Sanitary Inspector Shultz said that in his daily inspections of the eating places in the city he was recommending the owners to wash the dishes and other utensils used on the tables by the method he had described.

FIRST AID NEARLY FATAL

Young women of the auxiliary ambulance service in Christchurch, New Zealand, gave a first-aid demonstration that proved disasterous to the "casualty." The girls placed him on a stretcher, and slid him carefully into a hospital ambulance—but not quite far enough. When they slammed the door it struck the patient on the head—and gave him a concussion.

It might also be said that Princess is the only living actress of note who has never sought publicity. She has never been known to give an interview to the newspapers, and has never voluntarily been quoted or had her photograph taken. She comes from the Dutch West Indies, is ten years old, and weighs one hundred and fifty pounds.

But Princess is only one small portion of the great Birch array of thrilling illusions and demonstrations of the magic art. Included in the production are many tricks which require a veritable menagerie for presentation. Of these may be mentioned the canary that appears in a burning light bulb, the vanishing ducks, the elusive doves and many others.

Children are always made welcome at the Birch show. The magician likes to work with them, and frequently calls them to the stage.

"I like to play to adults, of course, for they can really appreciate to the fullest the beauty and wonder of my illusions, but it is really much more fun to work with the kiddies. Their naive enthusiasm and the pure enjoyment which they get from the show is something infinitely precious to me."

Ulster Shows Increase In August Milk Total

New York's $13,000,000 Paid During Month Is 41 Percent Increase

An increase of 12.5 per cent in the value of the milk delivered in August to Ulster county plants approved to ship to the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, as compared with August 1940 deliveries to the New York pool, was announced today by N. J. Cladakis, market administrator.

Dairymen delivered last month 2,403,912 pounds of milk, worth $59,617.02 at the uniform price of $2.48, to the county's approved plants.

The August milk pool provided an average increase of 41.11 per cent in the value of the payments 59,873 dairy farmers of the six states of the New York milkshed are scheduled to receive today as compared with their return a year ago. The net payment for last month's milk amounts to $13,157.449.81.

"This month's milk income," is exactly 41.11 per cent above the net return a year ago when dairymen were paid $9,324,267.57 for their August milk. The net gain in dairy farm income, worked out to the final penny, is $3,833,182.41.

The rise of 41.11 per cent is a true reflection of the August uniform price of $2.48 a hundred-weight. Bettering the rate of the previous August by 67 cents, the current price is the highest ever calculated under the federal-state orders and is the result of the increasing value of dairy products and the recent amendments to the orders. The amendments, added to the orders March 1 and again July 1, were designed to raise the price schedule of the New York orders to keep pace with the ascending value of surplus milk products.

The 67-cent boost assured a rise in income in every major milk-producing county of the milkshed. The increases ranged from a low of 28.6 per cent in Franklin county, to a high of 135.9 per cent in Broome county. The percentage gains, calculated from a comparison of uniform-price values of the two August pools, are somewhat higher than the actual net increases because this year's August pool contains milk marketed last year as unpreserved milk.

The New Supreme Court: Young, Beardless, Liberal

By ALEX. R. GEORGE

AP Feature Service Writer
Washington — The Supreme Court, which opens its 1941-1942 session October 6, will be the youngest—and from the standpoint of judicial experience, the "greenest"—in more than a century.

Seven of the nine justices will have been members of the high court less than four years. All, excepting the new chief justice, Harlan Stone, and Justice Owen Roberts, have been appointed by President Roosevelt since his unsuccessful attempt to infuse "younger blood" into the court by enlargement to 15 justices and compulsory retirement at the age of 70.

Only two members were judges before coming to the high tribunal. Justice Hugo L. Black was a police judge early in his career and Justice Frank Murphy served as judge of the recorders' court in Detroit for several years. Three justices, Stone, Murphy and Robert H. Jackson, are former attorneys general of the United States.

The average age of the court members is 56 compared with 71 when the President launched his court fight in 1937. None is in the "old man" class. The oldest, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was 79 when he retired last summer and Oliver Wendell Holmes was over 90 when he left the bench in 1932 because of failing health.

The departure of Hughes leaves the court without a beard or a mustache for the first time since pre-Civil War days. To court visitors the symmetrical white beard and "classic countenance" of the stately Hughes was a near-perfect symbol of the court's traditional dignity. He seemed made to order for the role of No. 1 man in the $8,000,000 white marble temple of justice.

CHIEF JUSTICE STONE, born on a New Hampshire farm and a progressive Republican, was appointed to the court in 1925 by President Coolidge. Stone, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis then comprised the "liberal minority" on the bench. The court Stone now heads is rated "overwhelmingly liberal."

The two brand-new justices, former Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and ex-Attorney General Robert Jackson, were high-ranking New Dealers.

The other five Roosevelt appointees had prominent New Deal connections: Black on the senatorial front; Felix Frankfurter as a brain-truster from Harvard;

Murphy as attorney general and a Michigan political leader; William O. Douglas as professor-chairman of the Security and Exchange commission; and Stanley F. Reed as solicitor general of the United States.

And what, by the way, do they mean by "Scouts"?

Simple. Just "Supreme Court Of The United States."

Beauty Shop (Chemical) Is Opened in New York for Men

Blondes Have Soft Fingers, Their Voices Soothing; and They Give Pills and Sage Advice

A beauty shop for men opened in New York today, and The Associated Press assigned one of its eligible newswomen to see what the "grooming boys" might have to endure to make favorable impressions on debutantes. He relates his experiences in the following story.

By FRANK EWING

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—Five members suing to oust officers of Local 445, Teamsters Union, won a sweeping pre-trial victory today, when Supreme Court Justice Raymond Aldrich upheld them on nearly every point in their motion to modify a bill of particulars demanded by the defendant officers.

In a decision handed down in White Plains, Justice Aldrich ruled the plaintiffs need only answer to the extent of their knowledge and information but need not provide exact dates, places and exact language of alleged actions and threats, as asked by the defendants.

The action is directed principally against Jeremiah J. Buckley, secretary-treasurer.

The union members charge that the officers sought to perpetuate themselves in office and control the trucking labor business, had used threats of violence to stop opposition within the union, and had tried to oust two of the plaintiffs from the union for attempting to void a union election last fall.

P. O. of A. to Present Flag To Glenford Rural School

Camp No. 30, Patriotic Order of America, will present an American flag to the Glenford Rural School on Sunday afternoon, September 28 at 4 o'clock at the school grounds.

The flag committee of the Patriotic Order of America, of which the chairman is Mrs. Eldena Freer, with the co-operation of the school trustee, Eugene Maier, and the teacher, Miss Maroon, have completed plans for an appropriate presentation ceremony. The presentation will be made by the district president of Camp No. 30, Mrs. Mertie Flowers.

The camp, school board and pupils of the Glenford School extend an invitation to the parents and the public to attend.

The committee suggests that all camp members planning to attend meet at 78 Green street, Kingston, at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and proceed to the school grounds in a body. All members requiring transportation are asked to call Kingston 2547-J or before Friday evening, September 26, when the final arrangements will be planned.

American Legion District Session Slated for City

Kingston Post 150, American Legion, will be host to the Legionnaires of the Third Judicial District of New York state on Sunday afternoon, September 28, at the Legion Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly street.

This event will bring together old time buddies, who have served the American Legion since its very inception, and who have at one time or another held every high office that the individual post, county or district organization can offer.

District Commander William P. Stevens of Greenville will be the presiding officer. His agenda will consist of numerous resolutions enacted at the last convention of the Department of New York as well as a number of recommendations to be submitted for the welfare of the county Legion organizations within the third district.

Commander Stanley H. Dempsey of the local Legion with the assistance of the entire executive committee will act as host and receptionists to the visiting delegation and their friends.

Ulster county Legionnaires will be represented by the following organizations: Kingston Post 150, Kingston; Laramore Hackett Post 72, Saugerties; George D. Cook Post 124, Marlborough; Sullivan-Schafer Post 176, New Paltz; Lloyd Post 193, Highland; Phoenix Post 950, Phoenix; Woodstock Post 1026, Woodstock; Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, West 75, R. F. D. 3; Cornelius Box Post 1034, Wallkill.

To Hold Meeting

The annual meeting of the members of the Terpening Burying Ground Association of Ulster Park will be held on the cemetery grounds on Saturday, September 27, at 2:30 p. m. All interested are urged to attend.

She just squinted at my waistline, ordered me on the scales, led me to the herb room and exhibited some slim wafers filled with vitamins and minerals, but low in calories, and begged me with their dietary possibilities.

Additional Plans Are Made for Ball

Selection of Orchestra Is Still Undetermined
by Committee

Additional plans for the annual charity ball of Kingston Council Knights of Columbus to be held Friday evening, October 10, at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, were made at a meeting of the general committee last night.

Particularly encouraging to Chairman Frank A. Reis, was the report of Thomas C. Lodge of the patron ticket committee, who stated that the acceptance of patron tickets to date exceeded the sale of previous years. Mr. Lodge, also stated that anyone in the city who wishes to make returns for their patron tickets, may find it convenient to notify him by telephoning 2638-R and he will arrange to have a member of his committee collect.

While nothing definite can be announced about the orchestra for the dancing at this time, it is expected that within several days negotiations will be complete and proper announcement given. Plans are under way to bring to Kingston one of the better known radio network orchestras and several offers are under consideration.

A local orchestra will also be engaged to alternate for continuous dancing.

It was announced that the entertainment will come through the offices of one of the oldest theatrical agencies in New York.

The Municipal Auditorium will be appropriately decorated for the event and seating is being carefully worked out.

The charity ball of Kingston Council Knights of Columbus, has been run now for 23 consecutive years. Each year has seen larger attendance and improved entertainment. The 1940 ball reached a new high when the local Knights presented the music of Russ Morgan and his orchestra, one of the most famous dance bands in the country. With the 1940 record at his hand Mr. Reis with the aid of an active committee and the support of the people in the community, hopes to surpass any charity event held in the past.

Vincent G. Connelly, head of the reception committee today announced the members of the committee to greet patrons at the auditorium on the night of Friday, October 10. They are Edward Ahl, Allen A. Baker, D. Fred Balzer, Henry J. Bruck, Nicholas Bruck, William B. Byrne, James R. Cahill, Matthew V. Cahill, Andrew J. Cook, Jr., Joseph J. Deegan, Robert A. Donnaruma, John J. Egan, Walter L. Foster, J. Addison Freer, E. Frank Flanagan, William Golden, John Heybruck, Edward Moran, Patrick T. Murphy, Frank L. Meagher, James Murphy, Guido Napoletano, Joseph J. Stout, Vincent Steeley, Joseph Sullivan, James O'Connor, Thomas Plunket, William Rothery, Bernard Rourke and Ray Schuler.

Registration Is Vital

Kingston sector and post wards are passing out questionnaire cards to householders in this city, so that all may register for defense of their homes and be prepared if war comes to the U. S. A. This is vital to all. Registration ends October 1.

Windsor Is Sure British Would Win; Calls on President

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor today expressed his absolute confidence that Britain would win the war.

After discussing the international situation with Secretary of State Hull for 17 minutes, the Duke was surrounded by newsmen for a brief impromptu press conference.

One newsmen inquired whether the Duke was confident Britain would win the war.

"Absolutely, absolutely," Windsor replied.

When the Duke came out of the state department the Duchess was waiting for him in the car. She had changed from her early morning costume and was wearing a Wallis blue dress and a Juliet cap, with a nose veil.

State department and White House employees who had gathered in the roped-off street broke into a cheer as the Duke emerged.

The couple then rode the short distance to the White House for a call on President Roosevelt.

Atoms of Uranium Broken
Into Two Equal Parts

A great achievement has recently been reported by the University of California, where atoms of uranium have been broken into two equal parts.

To the layman this doesn't look more important than the cracking of a hazelnut; but the scientist sees in it a long step toward the releasing of the energy of the atom—energy so great that could be liberated in sufficient quantity, as in the case of one gram of uranium, it could exhibit energy which, expressed in terms of work, would be equal to 200,000 kilowatt hours.

"Within a tumbler of water," says Nobel Prize Winner Theodore W. Richmon of Harvard, "would lie sufficient energy to propel the Mau- retania across the Atlantic and back at full speed."

Professor Krasny-Ergen says it would take a $10,000,000 laboratory expenditure to produce one pound of U-235 in four days, and that 91 pounds would be the equivalent of 5,000,000 pounds of anthracite coal, or 3,000,000 pounds of gasoline.

Hepplewhite

Hepplewhite—the great English cabinet maker who created a repertoire of very beautiful furniture styles, died in 1787, his business being carried on for years afterwards by his widow, Alice Hepplewhite. These designs are delicate and sensitive, mahogany being the most usual wood and the shield or heart shaped back a characteristic detail. Legs generally were slender and straight and either tapered to a spayed foot or rounded. His chairs were carved with daintiness and great restraint; his tables and other small pieces had some fine inlaid designs; while his large pieces had little ornamentation, their beauty depending upon fine lines and proportions. Hepplewhite's sideboards usually have serpentine fronts and concave panels.

Paper Containers

"Paper containers cut the milkman's labor 60 per cent and reduce the cost to the consumer to a cent and a half a quart," recently testified an official of a large milk company.

It is chiefly because of lower first costs or savings in handling that the fabricator of paper products is often able to supplant the tin-can and wooden-box maker, the glass blower and, to a limited extent, the textile mill employee. Because of the other products, paper production in 1939 reached an all-time high of nearly 13,500,000 tons—twice the amount produced only 20 years ago.

It is estimated that 350,000 additional tons of paper a year would be needed for that purpose alone if the paper milk bottle were to dis- place glass.

Sugar Aids Digestion

Sugars of all types, molasses, honey and syrups are classified as energy foods. In the form of white sugar, we have one of the few foods which has other attributes except the fuel and sweet flavor which it provides.

Brown sugar and molasses retain some of the natural minerals. Molasses is an excellent source of iron and also contributes both calcium and phosphorus. Honey also provides minerals, although in smaller quantities.

MONUMENT HONORS FLAG

On the anniversary of her annexation to Mexico, Chiapas state unveiled a monument to the National Banner in Tuxtla Gutierrez, the state capital. A large delegation represented the local Chiapas colony at the ceremony and several high government officials attended.

OFFICE CAT FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter 16
Overboard

She—Major, did you get that scar during an engagement? Major—No, the first week of our honeymoon.

Hi, Bachelors! To miss a kiss Is more amiss than it would be. To kiss the miss Provided that the kiss Kiss her miss Would never miss But if you try to kiss a miss With whom a kiss Should be amiss You'd better always Miss the kiss!

Our grandpop has been having such interesting dreams lately he's taken to wearing his spectacles to bed.

Mollie—Pa, what's a garden plot? Pa—The bugs and worms planning to eat your stuff up.

From the Newton (Kansas) Times comes the following account of a minor mishap: "Mrs. Janice Foridian suffered a painful injury Saturday when she tripped over a rug while moving the furniture in the parlor and fell, fracturing her kneecap and demolishing her what-not."

The owner of the country newspaper went home to dinner, smiling radiantly.

Wife—You must have had some good fortune this morning.

Owner—Indeed I did. Jim Smith, who hasn't paid his subscription for ten years came in and stopped at his paper.

"Are you a doctor?" asked a young lady stopping into a drug store. "Naw," replied the boy behind the service counter. I'm just a fizzican."

The times that try men's souls can be conquered by men who TRY.

The shoe store proprietor was hiring a clerk.

Proprietor—Suppose a lady customer were to remark, while you were trying to fit her, "Dont you think one of my feet is bigger than the other?" what would you say?

Clerk—I should say, "on the contrary, madam, one is smaller than the other".

Proprietor—The job is yours.

It's bad to marry a man who plays poker, but worse to marry a man who can't play poker but thinks he can.

Tourist—I'd hate to live in a town like this.

Sneeburg—So would I, Mister.

Tourist—Oh, then, you're not a native?

Sneeburg—Not so's you can notice it. I live two miles west of here.

confronted with you and your Conch companion?" she asked of Jerry.

"Please remember Mother invited Pam here, Lenore," Jerry replied. "Because she's foolish enough to want to please you! Why you have to bring all of your stupid flirtations to the attention of the whole world!"

"That's just the difference—there was a peculiar intensity in Jerry's voice—"between you and me. I mean what I'm doing, and have nothing to keep under cover! And now you'd better shut up, if you know what's good for you. I don't want to get rough with you, Lenore, but I will if I have to."

Pam, meanwhile, had been sipping her drink as if she hadn't heard, and something about her calm indifference angered Lenore. Glass in hand, Lenore swaggered around to Pam's side.

"I don't know what you mean, Leo." They were standing beside the rail now, looking out over the silvery water.

"Yes, you do, Pam. Am I too late? Have I let things go too long? Have I been too slow in asking you for a definite answer? And yet if it means your happiness—" His words were interrupted by one of the ship's officers.

"Beg pardon, sir, but you're wanted on the gangplank. Some from the hospital. Says it's important, to please hurry."

Leo turned hastily to Pam, touched her hand for a fleeting moment:

"There was a critical case. One I operated on this afternoon." His words were clipped and earnest.

"That's the worst of being a doctor. Right in the middle of a proposal! Pam, I'll come back if I can, but I probably can't."

"I'll hold everything until you do!" She patted his shoulder as he turned. "It's swell to see someone who feels his duty and goes to perform it."

At the gangplank Jerry, who had seen the messenger come to the boat, waited for Leo. He liked the young doctor.

"I'm leaving her in your care," Leo said hurriedly. "I expect you to make a job of seeing that she has a good time and gets home safely."

Jerry knew without being told that he referred to Pam. He knew too that Lee meant that she must be protected from Lenore's cruel jibes.

"As if anyone has to ask me that!" he said. "Come back if you can, Leo."

Jerry went back then and claimed Pam. Pam asked him to get her marigolds from the ice box, a little sorry that she must make the change after Leo had gone.

"Don't be offended, Jerry," she said. "I didn't know Leo would be called away, and I do want to wear your flowers."

"I know, I'm glad they pleased you—that's all I ask."

"They're one of the sweetest thoughts I've ever known, Jerry. Thank you so much."

He paused to look at her, then went and got the flowers, sweet and velvety and cool. Pam went to the powder room to fasten them in place. She put the roses she had been wearing in a small vase she found there. Freda came in just as she was making the change.

"Jerry's a good swimmer," Bart Winthrop announced, "but what about the girl?"

"Pam, can do anything," a voice replied.

"I did it, and I'm glad of it!"

Lenore exclaimed. "Better a shark or a barracuda gets him than a beach girl!"

"Lenore!"

Pam, swimming through the pleasantly warm water, heard the girl's name in sharp rebuke from Mrs. Winthrop. Rebuke and alarm. She had heard, too, Jerry's quick dive and knew that he was following her.

"You've done nothing to boast of, Lenore. I'd keep quiet, if I were you." It was spoken in a stern tone. Voices carried so over water. Pam could hear much of what was said against the confusion of sound made by the lesser actors in the scene.

And then she heard something that paralyzed her with fright. A third body had plunged into the water. She knew instinctively by the way it struck the water that it had been Blaze. If there were sharks or barracudas near, Blaze would be the victim. Human beings were often let alone, but dogs were seemingly a favorite prey.

"The searchlight!" someone cried. "Turn the light on them. Lower a boat!"

Pam was grateful for the light. She swam easily and expertly. She turned and looked and finally saw the dog's head coming toward her.

"Blaze!" she commanded. "Come here, Blaze!"

The animal was making headway toward her. As soon as they were within reach of each other, Pam grasped Blaze's collar and pulled her along, swimming with all the speed she was capable of. Vaguely, she heard Jerry's voice calling her.

"Why, she's got Blaze!" someone shouted in amazement as the light picked them out.

Blaze, seeming to understand, swam with all her might beside Pam and actually, as Pam tired slightly, helped her. Pam had known it would just be a matter of getting Blaze started in the right direction, so she would not swim out to sea.

Finally they were at the lower platform of the dock. There was a ladder there for swimmers to climb up, though very few people ever used it. They were not encouraged to swim there.

Pam clung to it and managed to push Blaze up. Blaze's instinctive fear of open slats made the thing difficult at first, but she grasped the idea, and climbed carefully. Pam was laughing as she climbed the ladder which led to the platform. Jerry, breathless, was immediately behind her.

"Every time I move, must I be

City Decrees Pants

Torrid but beautiful Colia City, Mexico, has decreed that men must wear trousers when they appear in public. After the city was devastated by earthquakes last April men were allowed to go around in shorts during the reconstruction period. Now that the old community is itself again the authorities agree that the many tourists must not be shocked.

The War Nobody Thought Would Last Enters Its Fourth Savage Month

1. No powder puff war is the three-month-old Russo-German conflict. Savagery old and new has been recounted daily in dispatches from the front. Old device with a new twist was artificial fog, refinement of the smoke screen. Early in the fighting, correspondents reported that the fog laid down by specially trained artillerymen was used to give cover to Nazi troops advancing across a border river, presumably the Bug. The smoke shells upon exploding blanketed river banks and villages with a milky-white screen and infantrymen were able to cross, some on undestroyed bridges. AP Feature Service Artist Henry Barrow has drawn this conception of Nazi troops waiting in shallow riverside trenches for fog to spread.

2. Spectacular sideshow to the Russo-German war was a collision between a runaway locomotive and a Nazi troop train. A Russian communiqué announced that "alert guerrillas" discovered the German locomotive on a siding, opened the throttle and sent it hurtling down the rail to collide with the train, smashing 15 cars loaded with men. Russians used other means at hand in the Ukraine, where trains were damaged by boulders rolled down from the hills.

3. Suicidal acts of bravery and heroism have been reported in communiques from the Russo-Axis front. Not the least was destruction of a Nazi pontoon bridge on the Dnieper river near the Russian town of "D" (possibly Dnieperopetrovsk). This artist's conception shows how a flaming Soviet bomber, according to the Russian communiqué, steered purposely for a crash on the pontoons, exploding the bomb load, wrecking the half-finished structure and killing the crew of four. The bomber had been hit by an anti-aircraft shell. The Finns honored Vilho Raetoe, a private, for capturing a Russian anti-tank gun single-handed and turning it on four Soviet tanks, destroying them.

Three Bungalows Destroyed by Fire

Origin of Camp Blaze Is Undetermined

Three bungalows on the Camp Hayden property, located just west of Route 209 about a mile north of Kerhonkson, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Ben Davis, whose property is nearby, first noticed that there was a grass fire on the place and shortly afterward some guests at the resort saw that the bungalows were on fire. The Accord fire department responded to a call, but it was too late to save the buildings.

The bungalows had just been remodeled this year and were equipped with plumbing, electric lights, etc. All furniture, including 24 beds, was destroyed. There is a small insurance.

Camp Hayden is conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hayden, who purchased the property in 1920.

PORK CHOPS

Lights of New York
by L. L. STEVENSON

Had a few free hours and rather than hang around the apartment, May and I boarded an Eighty-sixth street crosstown bus and went adventuring. In the course of time we ended up in Carl Schurz park which we had never before visited. As a matter of fact, many a native-born New Yorker has never seen Carl Schurz park and many a visitor has been right in its immediate vicinity without being aware of its presence. Visitors usually miss it because the new East River drive, so popular with motorists, instead of passing through the park, runs under it. It is of great interest to New Yorkers, unless they live in the neighborhood because it has no zoo or Coney Island features. Then too, it is one of the smallest parks in the city, its total area being but 13 acres. It is six blocks long extending from Eighty-fourth to Ninetieth street and one block wide extending from East End avenue to the East river.

Despite its small size, we found Carl Schurz park interesting for two reasons, the view, and the Gracie mansion. The park is high above the East river. So before the eyes, a marine parade with small boats, steamers and even big ships passing up and down, since the East river is the highway, or rather high-stream, for water traffic using Long Island sound. Hell Gate is the portal between the sound and the river. Not far from the park is Little Hell Gate, spanned by the new Triborough bridge and the broken water with its crazy eddies and swirls, caused by a combination of tide and current, indicated plainly why the old mariners chose the name Hell Gate. But as we sat on the benches, we noted many little pleasure boats, including some with white sails.

Having walked about the park with its flower beds, old trees and pits where children may safely play in the sand, we went into the Gracie mansion. The house dates back to the early 1800s with the windows looking out over the river. The huge rooms, each with its fireplace, are furnished in the mode of the last century so May was always exclaiming over the chairs and tables on the first floor and the old beds, with their canopies, on the second floor. But the mantelpieces were what really enraptured her. Each one different and each one in excellent taste. What was uppermost in my mind was the enormous amount of fuel it must have taken to have kept the place warm when there were wintry breezes instead of summer sun. But a family with wealth enough to live in a home of that size didn't have to worry about any fuel bills.

The Gracie mansion is now a part of the Museum of the City of New York and open to the public. That means of course that many instead of the few can enjoy the house and its grounds. But as we walked through it, I imagined I could see ladies and gentlemen of another period turning up their noses at such intruders as us and as we stood in the door of a small room, with a little bed and a little desk and chair, I thought I heard the laughter of a child. After all, there had been a time when the old house had been a home and as such, sacred to the memory.

Outside, we again sat on a bench. Welfare island, with its various buildings, seemed within a stone's throw. In the old days, Welfare island was known as Blackwell's island and many were the tales about the prison there. Within recent years, the penitentiary has been moved to Riker's island, once a dump. But on Welfare island is still a workhouse, where minor offenders do their time. There also are the City Home for the Aged and Infirmary and the City hospital. There have been plans within the late years to move the institutions and turn the island into a park. But if that were done, it probably would not be so pleasant for the aged and the destitute sick.

Somewhere I read that the north end of Carl Schurz park in the old days was known as Horn's Hook and played an important part in the Revolutionary war and the War of 1812.

When Gertrude Berg sends out invitations for a party at her home, she lists on the back of each the names of all the other guests who have been asked to attend. This diplomatic precaution prevents embarrassment for those who are not on speaking terms . . . also for the hostess. It is a very convenient arrangement for all.

ODD PHOTO TRAILS THIEF

Caught in the act by a camera, a New Zealand safe robber is being pursued by an extraordinary photograph, it is reported in Wellington. The photograph shows a man, gloved and flashlight in hand, near a postoffice safe, which he blew open a few minutes later. The shutter of the automatic camera was released by the breaking of a ray across the room, unknown to the robber. Working with great care, he left no other clues that might reveal his identity.

Yoshio Kami, chief engineer of a rayon company, is sure that his suits made from fish will soon be the rage in Japan. Aided by a subsidy from the Ministry of Commerce and Industry in Tokyo, he is working on the finishing touches of his process. He was trying to make fiber from soy beans when he ran onto the fish idea. The flesh of sea animals is first mashed, after which an anti-fat treatment is given together with another of formalin to strengthen the fiber extracted from the flesh.

GRANGE NEWS

The regular meeting of Patroon Grange was held Monday evening combined with a pot luck supper, a flower show and an open bazaar night program with the public invited.

After a bountiful supper the master, G. B. Schoonmaker welcomed those present. The only item of business was to announce that the first games of the series of Grange card parties would be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Schoonmaker on Tuesday evening, September 30. The public is invited.

The master turned the meeting over to the lecturer, Mrs. Percy W. Gazlay, who presented the following program: Opening song,

"Dear Old Farm" followed by the "flag salute." Two poems, "Do You Boost Your Grange?" Mrs. L. C. Kelder and "How Many Feet Has a Tapeworm?" Mrs. Millard Davis. Gwendolyn Davis gave two solos "Star of the Sea" and "The Cradle Song."

The poem "Agreed" by S. F. Kelder was followed by a Grange talk by Archie Davis. Sufficient copies of Irving Berlin's new song "Any Bonds Today?" have been received for Grange work and some time was spent in learning it with Mrs. C. B. Schoonmaker at the piano. A kiddie quiz was conducted by the secretary. A poem "Real Grangers," Mrs. S. F. Kelder. A relay drawing of a horse on both sides of a blackboard was contested by school teachers and ex-school teachers or one side and students on the other. The students won. The lecturer conducted an apple guessing quiz and the program closed with the song "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Two Fliers Are Killed

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 25 (AP)—Ensign Donald A. Utz, 27, of Port Washington, N. Y., and Flying Cadet Emanuel L. ## A Dozen and One Appetizing Ideas

Spicy Barquette canapes, easily made in your own kitchen.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(P) Feature Service Writer

Don't think that because your pocketbook is slim and your preparation time short, you can't give the party you planned for the bunch.

Scan the refrigerator for leftover dabs of meat, fish, vegetables and cheese. Buy some inexpensive meat cuts, relishes and crackers, and get busy on hors d'oeuvres. Make up dozens of these fascinating little tidbits that go so well with hot beverages, chilled fruit, vegetables juices and cocktails.

Here are a dozen and one things for you to make for your informal fun fest.

1. Top inch squares of toast with dried herring (cut with scissors), and spread lightly with pickle relish, and brush with melted butter. Heat for extra freshness.

2. String up half-inch cubes of dill pickles with pearl onions on colored wood picks and stick in shiny eggplant when time to serve.

3. Fashion cottage cheese into inch balls, roll in chopped dried beef and parsley. Surround a platter of chopped ham relish spread on round crackers and toasted.

4. Season snappy yellow cheese with minced green peppers, onions and celery spread on large pieces of dried beef, and roll up. Spear with picks.

5. Mix crushed salted peanuts with broken crisp bacon, and spread on toast squares. Brush lightly with mustard mixed with salad dressing. Heat until crisp.

6. Mash sardines with fork, season with chopped sweet pickles and salad dressing, and spread on small crackers. Heat.

7. Stuff celery sticks with

4 slices white bread, not fresh
1/2 cup soft sharp yellow cheese spread

1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
Dash of paprika
Dash of black pepper
Chili Sauce

3 strips bacon

Make six oblongs from each bread slice. Hollow out centers, toast lightly and brush with butter. Spread inside with chili sauce. Blend Worcestershire sauce, paprika and pepper with cheese and fill. Barquette. Cover with crisp inch squares of bacon and serve hot.

8. Spread round veal bologna with mild mustard. Center with thin sweet or sour pickle. Bring bologna up and around pickle, holding in place with picks.

9. Mash liver sausage, thin slightly with cream, add small amount of chopped olives, and spread on toast fingers. Brush lightly with melted butter and toast until brown.

10. Spread thin sliced white bread with mustard and salad dressing, cover with ham relish spread. Roll up quickly, wrap in waxed paper and chill until serving time. Cut in half-inch rounds and stick on picks or surround a tray of assorted canapes and hors d'oeuvres.

11. Mix yellow cream cheese (rather zippy) with salad dressing, chopped ripe olives and diced celery. Add clove garlic five minutes and then discard it. Spread the cheese mixture on buttered Graham bread slices. Cover with

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and worn out, right in the kidneys, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys. Don't wait. Do it now. It's a valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nervousness, insomnia, pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

His business career took him to Yukon as a mining engineer in 1914, then back to Schenectady, N. Y., where he joined the General Electric Company for a business association that lasted many years. He worked for General Electric in Schenectady, Seattle, Chicago and Detroit.

While with that concern he assisted in the electrification of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. In 1928, when he resigned from General Electric at Chicago, he joined the eastern Michigan railways as vice-president in charge of traffic. A year later he was made vice-president of Detroit's American State Bank.

After resigning as Detroit City Controller in 1932, he worked for a short time with a Cleveland firm and was later general manager of the Arlington and Fairfax railroad, an interurban line operating out of Washington, D. C.

His last business connection was with Harvey Schwamm and Company of New York city.

Was Army Aviator

When the United States entered the World War in 1917, Hall became an army aviator, enlisting with his beloved cousin Quentin, son of then former President Theodore Roosevelt.

Quentin went to France and a hero's death behind the German lines while Hall, fighting bitterly, was kept in the United States as an instructor of pursuit pilots. His sister said he never was reconciled to not going to the front.

Hall Roosevelt was twice married and twice divorced. His 1912 marriage to Margaret Richardson of Boston was dissolved in Philadelphia in 1924, after spending the week at the Vista, birth of four children.

His second marriage, to Dorothy Kemp of Detroit, ended in the courts in 1937.

Both his former wives and five children survive. Henry P. Roosevelt, 26, born in the Yukon, lives with his mother, now Mrs. John Cutter at Dedham, Mass. Eleanor, 21, now Mrs. Edward Proctor Elliott, made her debut to society at the White House in 1938 and resides at the present time in Narberth, Pa. Another child of the first marriage died in infancy and the fourth, Daniel L. Roosevelt, was killed in an airplane accident in Mexico in 1939.

All the children of the second marriage live with their mother in Detroit. They are Amy, 15, Diana, 14, and Janet, 11.

whether he introduced the repealer with the knowledge of Senate leaders.

President Roosevelt said Tuesday that revision or repeal of the act was being studied, indicating that action might be forthcoming next week.

McKellar said he thought that while the law was on the statute books, the government was "paying virtually no attention to it" and for that reason it ought to be repealed.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) expressed belief that repeal of the act would be "equivalent to a declaration of war."

Brooklyn Is on Threshold Of Clinching League Race; Club Needs 2 More Wins

Extra-Base Blow in 7th Decides Game; Harry Gumbert Hurls Card's Win

(By the Associated Press) The Brooklyn Dodgers are on the threshold of the National League's King Row today. Another victory for the "bums" against the Braves at Boston and a defeat for the St. Louis Cardinals at Pittsburgh would turn the trick. This may not happen today, but it shows how close the Dodgers finally have come to clinching their first pennant in 21 years. At the moment the standings are:

W. L. Pet. GB TP

Brooklyn . . . 98 53 .649 11 3

St. Louis . . . 96 54 .640 11 3

After these games today both clubs will be idle tomorrow. Then the Dodgers will go home to Brooklyn to wrap up their prize with two final games against the poor and harmless Phillies while the Cardinals spend Saturday and Sunday at Chicago.

If both clubs win today, Brooklyn can clinch the championship by beating Philadelphia Saturday, no matter what the Cards do.

Both of the rivals won yesterday—the Brooks 4-2 at Boston and the Redbirds 4-0 at Pittsburgh.

Walker Celebrates

It was Dixie Walker's 31st birthday and he celebrated by slamming out a triple with the bases loaded in the seventh inning to bring Brooklyn roaring from behind.

Up till that time Kirby Higbe's chances of attaining his 22nd victory had looked gloomy. Two singles and two costly errors by Pee-wee Reese and Cookie Lavagetto had given the Braves a pair of unearned runs, a lead which Big Jim Tobin sought nobly to protect.

In the seventh, however, Joe Medwick beat out a hit, Reese singled and Pinchhitter Lew Riggs loaded the bases when a force play on his grounder failed.

Then up strode Walker, who hadn't made a hit all day. Left Fielder Max West edged in close behind his shortstop hoping Walker would lift a little bloopper as he had in the third inning. Instead Walker rifled a liner over West's head to clean the bases.

That was the ball game, although the Dodgers added another run in the next inning for good measure.

Gumbert the Master

Harry Gumbert scattered six singles as the Cards shut out the Pirates and earned his sixth straight victory. But it was a hopeless, if masterful, perform-

Maines and Whitesell Will Be With Syracuse Friday

Hudson Valley Backs Are Slated for Lots of Work; Orange Looks to Cornell Game

Two Hudson Valley football stars—Tommy Maines, Kingston, and Dick Whitesell of Poughkeepsie, will get their acid test Friday night against Clarkson when Syracuse University opens its 1941 grid season.

Coach Ossie Solem, waiting for next week's major clash with the Big Red of Cornell, won't give these two backfield candidates too much work.

Hits High Series

Paced by Rita Markle's 506 series, the Standards took two games from the Joneses last night in the opening competition of the Colonial Women's League at the Central Recreation alleys. Mrs. Markle rolled games of 155, 179 and 172 for her high mark. Besides Mrs. Markle's highs there were a few other noteworthy scores for early season bowlers. They included Evelyn Dolson's 465 for Coq D'or; Mrs. Marge Van Alstyne's 492 for Raimonds, Madaline Schline's 471 for Kaplans and a 450 for N. Jackson of the same club.

Mrs. Markle, rolling a high single of 179, missed the high mark for the night as Fannie Marabell of Raimonds came through with a high 182. Mrs. Van Alstyne bowled 181 for second high.

Apples 'Stop Army' As Queen Visits Camp With Supply

More Than Three Tons Given by Miss Adams and Area Group of Assistants

Hudson Valley apples interfered with the army routine of at least one regiment at Fort Dix Tuesday while Dorothy Adams, the Hudson Valley Apple Harvest Queen, distributed the truck load of delicious McIntosh. The truck load of apples was contributed by area growers and arrangements for distribution were made through the Hudson Valley Apples Harvest Committee, of which C. Zacharie Rogers of Marlborough is chairman.

Major C. J. Heiselman of Kingston, honorary chairman of the harvest committee, helped make arrangements of the gift of apples to the boys in service and assisted in their distribution at Fort Dix. The gift of over three tons of apples was an outgrowth of requests from Hudson Valley boys at Fort Dix for some of the fine home-grown McIntosh. As a result of these requests, a Harvest Festival was developed.

The first event in this celebration was the gift of apples to Fort Dix. The final event will be a huge Apple Harvest Ball at the Municipal Auditorium in Kingston October 17. At that time Miss Adams will be crowned as the harvest queen.

Tuesday and Wednesday were busy days for the "Harvest Queen" and much publicity for Hudson Valley apples resulted.

The distribution of the apples at Fort Dix was photographed by the Universal Newsreels and numerous newspapers. On Wednesday, Miss Adams appeared on Allan Prescott's radio program at 10:45 o'clock over the blue N.B.C. network. This was followed by a trip to LaGuardia Airport where newsreels and other pictures were taken. In the afternoon she appeared at Fordham University and was photographed with the Fordham football team. Other similar activities are planned as part of the Apple Harvest Festival.

Many Helped Idea

Numerous Hudson Valley men played an important part in making arrangements for the gift of apples to the 69th F.A. Brigade at Fort Dix. This brigade is composed of three regiments; the 156th, the 165th and the 157th. The 156th is made up almost entirely of Hudson Valley boys and the apples were a farewell gift, as the entire division will leave for North Carolina on Friday for maneuvers. Major Ernest A. Steuding, plans and training officer of the 165th F.A., was largely responsible for the success of this venture. He was assisted by Major Charles Behrens and Major Harold V. Clayton of the 156th F.A. Others who played an important role were Lieutenant Schroeder of Saugerties and Captain Robert O. Alquist of Poughkeepsie. The group from the Hudson Valley were entertained at lunch on Tuesday by Colonel McVicker, commanding officer of the 156th, and Lieutenant Colonel Niles of the 157th.

The boys at Fort Dix freely expressed their appreciation of this generous gift of apples. The committee asked this newspaper to express their appreciation to the numerous growers who contributed apples. The Hudson Valley is one of the leading fruit producing areas in the United States and other activities are being planned to make this fact known. The gross annual income from fruit in the Hudson Valley is between six and seven million dollars.
